

40 Destinations Where You Can Unplug from the World

Photo credit: TsaraKombaLodge/facebook.com

UNPLUG YOUR VACATION

As our lives get busier and busier, filled with technology and a seemingly endless list of responsibilities, it becomes even more important to find time to truly unplug. Whether you're looking for a quiet romantic getaway as a couple, or want to give the whole family a chance to ditch their devices for a digital detox, we spoke to travel experts to discover some of the best restorative options out there. From peaceful island retreats and remote mountain villages to rugged wilderness and private sanctuaries, here are 40 places across the United States and the globe where you can slow down, go off grid, and recharge your body, mind, and soul.

Prices and availability are subject to change.

Photo credit: Courtesy of stehekinvalleyranch.com

STEHEKIN, WASHINGTON

A small, unincorporated community, Stehekin sits at the northwest end of Washington's Lake Chelan. The region is an unspoiled frontier forgotten by time. There are no roads to Stehekin, a community that's home to just 95 year-round residents. The only way to reach the village is by boat, seaplane, or small personal aircraft. There's also a local ferry, Lady of the Lake. Camping and fishing are popular activities in this magical place, which is surrounded by mountains and glaciers and is known for its blue-green water and sub-alpine timber. Stehekin Valley Ranch is a solar-powered ranch located in the North Cascade Mountains. Prices for tent cabins begin at $105 for adults and $75 for kids, per night.

Photo credit: banubanurettreat/facebook.com

ARNHEM LAND, AUSTRALIA

One of Australia's (and the world's) last true wilderness areas, Arnhem Land in Australia's Northern Territory has remained the property of the Aboriginal people and requires a special permit for visitors to enter. Arnhem Land is home to unforgettable scenery, rugged coastlines, remote islands, rainforests, and the most authentic culture in all of Australia. Among the most notable places to stay is BanuBanu Beach Resort, which features eco-lodges and tents on the beach. The resort is undergoing renovations but will reopen July 1 with a new restaurant, plunge pool, and six safari tents. Rates range from $450 to $550 per night.